Summary of interview with Karen Paritee conducted by Barbara Sanders
The purpose of the interview was to find out more about Karen Paritee's new member experience in Toastmasters and to learn what Karen loves about Toastmasters.

Karen went online looking for options to practice interacting with a virtual audience to develop her Karen is from Providence, RI and currently lives in Nashville, TN.

Question: How did you find the Metroplex Motivators Toastmasters Club?

professional presentation skills in order to conduct webinars.

She found several wonderful clubs locally. Karen enjoys being welcomed and encouraged by all of the Toastmasters that she encounters. Initially, Karen intended to check out several clubs but found that if she did not continue to join the Metroplex club then she would experience FOMO, fear of missing out. She felt as if the members would say something that she could learn from. Karen goes on to say: Since it was happening at every meeting! It's like they just can't help themselves! Karen found that members of the club often say things that she has heard before but they say it in a different way. She shared one of the many quotes that stands out to her: 'You are the sum of the five people with whom you surround yourself'.

Question: What are you looking to get out of Toastmasters?

Karen wants feedback on content that she will present in workshops that she conducts. More specifically, she would like to know if she is clear in what she is saying. She finds that she is receiving much more than this through her membership. Karen adds that she also receives Role Modeling from others who are also presenting information. This Role Modeling gives her an opportunity to listen. By listening, she finds that her speaking and delivering skills are improving. Karen also enjoys receiving immediate feedback from other Club Members.

Toastmasters gives Karen a community of people who are all at different levels, some are new and others are more seasoned. She finds that she can wear many different hats and mimic the speaking styles of other members in order to broaden her speaking skills, until she is as comfortable as they are. Toastmasters is a place where a person is encouraged to raise their voice, Karen shares. She enjoys this aspect of Toastmasters because in life we often face situations where we do not feel comfortable raising our voice and speaking our truest beliefs. She finds this particularly important since it's been said that people would rather face a firing squad than an audience.

Karen recently gave her first speech in the club. She shares some of her thoughts behind the preparation for the speech. Initially, Karen was hesitant to give the speech, but she asked herself, 'What is the worst thing that could happen?' This is her response: You are in a safe space. Karen confided that, given how encouraging the Metroplex Motivators are, she imagined that even if she went to the meeting and became too nervous to speak and sat in front of the camera for 4-6 minutes, she would have still received positive feedback. Moreover, she imagined that someone in the club would have complimented her for simply showing up to the meeting! This aspect of continuous positive feedback encourages Karen to courageously share her thoughts with Club Members.

In Conclusion Karen says that Toastmasters is a place where you practice raising your voice and you watch other people having a similar experience. FOMO, fear of missing out keeps Karen coming back to Toastmasters meeting. Karen says, I joined a group of already accomplished and growth-oriented individuals collaborating to bring out the best in each other. It's clearly in my interest to get to as many meetings as possible. What a wonderful and uplifting community! Also, the continuous positive feedback, the opportunity to wear many different hats and mimic the speaking styles of other members until comfortable with her own helps to broaden her skills. Karen is looking forward to raising her voice and improving her presentation skills as a member of Toastmasters!
